July Meeting

Our club met on July 28, around the Cooperative Extension Office. With the meeting occurring the day before Rain Day, members were encouraged to bring cameras and photograph downtown Waynesburg. With that in mind, our next meeting will have a monthly competition of Waynesburg Scenes, hopefully stressing the town's architecture and Rain Day. Those in attendance took photos of Rain Day window displays, buildings like the courthouse, Victoria Square and others. We'll be looking forward to seeing those as entries on August 25th.

July's monthly contest was Portraits, and your entries accomplished two goals—keeping those photogenic young models looking great and successfully plying your photo skills. All the entered photos were very well done. Please remember whether you were a winner or not, we are to give the models photos as a thank you for their time and efforts. The winners were: First Place—Bob Bedison, Second Place and Third Place were both taken by Janice Morris. Hopefully you understand that the names of the models have been omitted from this newsletter.

Because of a schedule conflict, not of our doing, we had to put a hold on the Welcome Center display that we thought we'd be doing this month. We will set up the display at Bowlby Library on Tuesday following Labor Day, and that display will last into October. We'll work out all those details at the meeting on August 25th.

Do not forget: We'll need help setting up and tearing down any time we do an exhibit. Obviously, we need your pictures too!

Fair Results

This editor knows that numerous members showed prize winning photos at both fairs, but he has not gotten well enough organized to get a list of those winners. Hopefully, we will give them all credit next month.

Exhibition Opportunities

Do not forget to submit your entries for the Coal Show in Carmichaels. We are looking forward to seeing the winner(s) come from GCPC.

The Taylor County Photography club in Grafton, West Virginia is holding a fall show. It would be great if we could have some entries submitted there. The Hardy's and Beverly Yoskovich attend the Taylor County meetings, and either of them can take your entries to a meeting or to one of the drop off points. Check this contest out by visiting their website at www.tcphotoclub.org.

August Meeting

The next meeting will be at 7 pm on August 25th at the Waynesburg Bible Chapel. We will be meeting at the Waynesburg Bible Chapel (before Kings Car Wash leaving town via Greene Street). For the monthly competition bring your best "Waynesburg Photos." Remember, bring 3-4x6's of any subject that is Waynesburg whether that is a Rain Day store front, a street scene, the courthouse or whatever. Let's see if we can all bring entries this month. The monthly meeting program will be a video program Janice has gotten for this meeting. In addition, new member Dave Vrana has agreed to chair and will help organize an autumn picnic and photo op at the park close to his house.

S&FF Reminder

If you have not retrieved your Sheep & Fiber Fest photo entries, please get in touch with Jerry ASAP and make arrangements to do so. His telephone number and email are on the front of this newsletter.

Club Members

For obvious reasons, we do not put our membership roster on the internet with our newsletter. We have encountered more concerning reasons for not distributing our membership list, so Jerry has not done so yet. That topic will be discussed at a future meeting so that we have input from more members before we do so.
