June Meeting

Our club met on June 23rd, and several members brought lighting set ups so that we could use ideas from April's and May's video presentations to capture portraits. We were blessed with three cooperative young models who posed for those lighting experiments. If you were there and took photos of those models, please bring prints on July 28th to give them for their efforts. As you should know, the topic for July's competition is Portraits, so you need to bring those best portraits as 4x6's for that also.

June's monthly contest was Wisdom. As we may have expected, that topic was a challenge. As usual, the entered pictures were creative and very well done. The winners were: First Place—Studying by Kathy Douglas, Second Place—Wisdom by Alan Butcher and Third Place was My Graduate by Beverly Yoskovich. All of the entries looked "very smart"!

Jerry was to check to see if we can do another display at the Welcome Center. We will, and we are to set up on Tuesday August 18th. Plan to do so at about 10 am. We will need some help, so if you can, please plan to help with that. We will leave those photos there until September 5th and then we'll have to move them directly to Bowlby Library where they will be on display through September. We will decide on the actual time to go out there and tear down next month. Hopefully, we can use the photo racks from the Sheep & Fiber Fest for both the Welcome Center and the Library.

Do not forget: We'll need help moving pictures, setting up and tearing down at both times/places!

Jacktown and Greene Fair Entries

By the time you get this newsletter, the Jacktown Fair will be underway. Good luck and we hope you will have won lots of ribbons and premiums there.

For the Greene County Fair, hopefully you have pre-registered, and you are reminded to take your properly prepared entries to the Fairgrounds on August 9th. Best of luck to everyone.

Exhibition Opportunities

Make sure you get entries in for the Coal Show. As last month's newsletter pointed out, John McCall at The Frame-Up and Gallery has entry forms and information. Also reminding you from last month, the premium for the Coal Show photography winner is more than most other local shows, so try to get an entry in for it.

The Taylor County Photography club in Grafton, West Virginia is holding a fall show. It would be great if we could have some entries submitted there. The Hardy's and Beverly Yoskovich attend the Taylor County meetings, and either of them can take your entries to a meeting or to one of the drop off points. Check this contest out by visiting their website at www.tphotoclub.org.

July Meeting

The next meeting will be at 7 pm on July 28th outside the Cooperative Extension Office at 26 West High Street. We will be meeting uptown this one time so that (if the weather cooperates) we can take "Waynesburg Photos." Presumably, businesses will have their windows decorated for Rain Day, and we can also stress some of the great traditional architecture like the Courthouse or our other older buildings. Make sure you bring your camera and be ready to shoot. The contest this month is Portraits. Bring your best photos that are Portraits whether you took them last month during the lighting practice or at some other time and place. Remember that you may enter up to three photos that are each 4x6 or less. We'll head downstairs to the Extension Office for the monthly competition and the meeting formalities. If it is raining, we'll just meet down there.

S&FF Reminder

When June 20th rolled around, Jerry was to pick up the remaining S&FF entries still at The Frame-Up and Gallery and at Rite Aid. There were a lots left at both places. If you have not retrieved your Sheep & Fiber Fest photo entries, please get in touch with Jerry ASAP and make arrangements to do so. His telephone number and email are on the front of this newsletter.

Club Members

For obvious reasons, we do not put our membership roster on the internet with our newsletter. However, if you are a member and you would like a copy of the membership roster with phone numbers, snail and email addresses, get in touch with Jerry after August 1st, and he will send you a copy in Excel. Also, if you do not want Jerry to include your information in what he sends, get in touch with him before August 1st. (Sure hope this works!—J.P.H.)
