From the Great Courses video series, an assignment: “Pick a subject – a person, a pet or something else and try to make three very different photographs of it during the same session. Frame your photo with just a small portion of the subject or show it very small in a grand scene. Make three visually separate images of the same thing.”

“There will be times when you will be in the field without a camera. And, you will see the most glorious sunset or the most beautiful scene that you have ever witnessed. Don't be bitter because you can't record it. Sit down, drink it in, and enjoy it for what it is!” ~DeGriff

Adapted from Meadowcroft's School Program Guidelines

Dress Appropriately

Meadowcroft is primarily an outdoor museum. It is important that all field trip participants dress appropriately for the weather. Rainy days are common in the spring so ensure that students bring raincoats, ponchos, or umbrellas when rain is a possibility. Insect repellent is permitted. We suggest that all visitors stay on the trails.

Accessibility

Accessibility varies depending on the educational program. The viewing platform at the Meadowcroft Rockshelter is located at the top of 65 steps. Rest areas are provided on the stairwell. The Woodland Encounters program takes place within a forest clearing located at the end of a 150 foot crushed stone trail. Both the trail and the Indian Village are accessible. The 19th century village is partially accessible with some of the buildings having a few steps. We ask that any student with special needs be accompanied by an adult who can help them to navigate the site if necessary. Visually impaired students are welcome and will have many hands-on opportunities as they listen to talks given by museum staff. Teachers are encouraged to call Meadowcroft at 724-587-3412 to discuss any accessibility-related concerns.

Restrooms

The only restrooms at Meadowcroft are located at the Visitors Center.

Food

Only light snacks and soft drinks are available at the museum gift shop. A picnic pavilion, outdoor picnic tables, and limited indoor seating are available on a first-come basis.

Museum Gift Shop

The Museum Gift Shop is located within the Visitors Center.
